Author–Title Index
Volume 26

A for Effort? (What Concerns Me); Tammy St. Louis-Rines; Sept.: 10–11.

Academic Advancement in Composition Studies: Scholarship, Publication, Promotion, Tenure ed. by Richard C. Gebhardt and Barbara Genelle Smith Gebhardt; Rev. by Cynthia Simpson; Sept.: 90–92.

Altstatt, Jeanne; I Teach (poem); May: 359–60.

Angona, Judith, rev. of Time to Know Them: A Longitudinal Study of Writing and Learning at the College Level by Marilyn S. Sternglass; Mar.: 319–21.

Anonymous Applicant: Peer Evaluation without Pressure, The (What Works for Me); Marcia Fujii; Sept.: 84.

Arnold, Jane; Keeping Language Journals in English Composition; Sept.: 71–74.

Assignment on the Job Market, An (What Works for Me); Patti Ball; Mar.: 313–14.

Ball, Patti; An Assignment on the Job Market (What Works for Me); Mar.: 313–14.

Barkley, Lawrence; A Grocery List and Audience Analysis (What Works for Me); May: 431–32.

Barnhouse, Sandra McGill; New Voices: Teaching and Responding to the Literature of AIDS; Sept.: 12–17.

Bay, Libby; Twists, Turns, and Returns: Returning Adult Students; Mar.: 305–12.

Beatty, Greg; Teaching Structure (What Works for Me); Mar.: 315–16.

Boon, Kevin Alexander; Publishing Group Projects: Decentering the Writing Classroom; Mar.: 262–68.

Borrowman, Shane; Yesterday's News in the Composition Class (What Works for Me): Sept.: 81–82.

Building Learning Communities on Nonresidential Campuses; Richard C. Raymond; May: 393–405.

Byrne, Mary Ellen; Double Vision: Faculty as Student; Dec.: 182–88.

Caribbean Women's Voices Speak to Two-Year College Students; Katherine M. Thomas and Linda Karsten Spoelman; May: 388–92.

Carter, Ron, and Thomas A. Rockson, Jr.; Personalizing the Grading Scale for Beginning Writers; Dec.: 125–31.

Christensen, Nancy; "The Rest of the Story" (What Works for Me); Dec.: 198.

Clues to Better Communication (What Works for Me); Marcia Fujii; Mar.: 318.

Collaborative Teaching in the De-Centered Classroom; Tom Speer and Barrie Ryan; Sept.: 39–49.

Comp-ardy (What Works for Me); Russ Sprinkle; Sept.: 79–80.

Computer-Assisted Commenting (What Works for Me); Jeffrey Klausman; Sept.: 80–81.

Connolly, Colleen; rev. of Gypsy Academics and Mother-Teachers: Gender, Contingent Labor, and Writing Instruction by Eileen E. Schell; Dec.: 201–02.

Constructing Knowledges: The Politics of Theory-Building and Pedagogy in Composition by Sidney I. Dobrin; rev. by Julie Drew; Sept.: 89–90.

Contracting English Composition: It Only Sounds Like an Illness; John A. Smith; May: 427–30.

"Daisies"; Ellen Laird; Dec.: 121–24.

Dashnau, Laurie A.; While Reading TETYC over Morning Coffee (poem); Mar.: 242.

Deconstruction in the Composition Classroom; Jean Reynolds; Mar.: 254–61.

Directive Versus Facilitative Commentary; D. R. Ransdell; Mar.: 269–76.

Dong, Yu Ren; The Need to Understand ESL

Author–Title Index
Volume 26

A for Effort? (What Concerns Me); Tammy St. Louis-Rines; Sept.: 10–11.

Academic Advancement in Composition Studies: Scholarship, Publication, Promotion, Tenure ed. by Richard C. Gebhardt and Barbara Genelle Smith Gebhardt; Rev. by Cynthia Simpson; Sept.: 90–92.

Altstatt, Jeanne; I Teach (poem); May: 359–60.

Angona, Judith, rev. of Time to Know Them: A Longitudinal Study of Writing and Learning at the College Level by Marilyn S. Sternglass; Mar.: 319–21.

Anonymous Applicant: Peer Evaluation without Pressure, The (What Works for Me); Marcia Fujii; Sept.: 84.

Arnold, Jane; Keeping Language Journals in English Composition; Sept.: 71–74.

Assignment on the Job Market, An (What Works for Me); Patti Ball; Mar.: 313–14.

Ball, Patti; An Assignment on the Job Market (What Works for Me); Mar.: 313–14.

Barkley, Lawrence; A Grocery List and Audience Analysis (What Works for Me); May: 431–32.

Barnhouse, Sandra McGill; New Voices: Teaching and Responding to the Literature of AIDS; Sept.: 12–17.

Bay, Libby; Twists, Turns, and Returns: Returning Adult Students; Mar.: 305–12.

Beatty, Greg; Teaching Structure (What Works for Me); Mar.: 315–16.

Boon, Kevin Alexander; Publishing Group Projects: Decentering the Writing Classroom; Mar.: 262–68.

Borrowman, Shane; Yesterday's News in the Composition Class (What Works for Me): Sept.: 81–82.

Building Learning Communities on Nonresidential Campuses; Richard C. Raymond; May: 393–405.

Byrne, Mary Ellen; Double Vision: Faculty as Student; Dec.: 182–88.

Caribbean Women's Voices Speak to Two-Year College Students; Katherine M. Thomas and Linda Karsten Spoelman; May: 388–92.

Carter, Ron, and Thomas A. Rockson, Jr.; Personalizing the Grading Scale for Beginning Writers; Dec.: 125–31.

Christensen, Nancy; "The Rest of the Story" (What Works for Me); Dec.: 198.

Clues to Better Communication (What Works for Me); Marcia Fujii; Mar.: 318.

Collaborative Teaching in the De-Centered Classroom; Tom Speer and Barrie Ryan; Sept.: 39–49.

Comp-ardy (What Works for Me); Russ Sprinkle; Sept.: 79–80.

Computer-Assisted Commenting (What Works for Me); Jeffrey Klausman; Sept.: 80–81.

Connolly, Colleen; rev. of Gypsy Academics and Mother-Teachers: Gender, Contingent Labor, and Writing Instruction by Eileen E. Schell; Dec.: 201–02.

Constructing Knowledges: The Politics of Theory-Building and Pedagogy in Composition by Sidney I. Dobrin; rev. by Julie Drew; Sept.: 89–90.

Contracting English Composition: It Only Sounds Like an Illness; John A. Smith; May: 427–30.

"Daisies"; Ellen Laird; Dec.: 121–24.

Dashnau, Laurie A.; While Reading TETYC over Morning Coffee (poem); Mar.: 242.

Deconstruction in the Composition Classroom; Jean Reynolds; Mar.: 254–61.

Directive Versus Facilitative Commentary; D. R. Ransdell; Mar.: 269–76.

Dong, Yu Ren; The Need to Understand ESL

Students' Native Language Writing Experiences; Mar.: 277–85.

Double Vision: Faculty as Student; Mary Ellen Byrne; Dec.: 182–88.

Drechsel, Joanne; Writing into Silence: Losing Voice with Writing Assessment Technology; May: 380–87.

Drew, Julie; rev. of Constructing Knowledges: The Politics of Theory-Building and Pedagogy in Composition by Sidney I. Dobrin; Sept.: 89–90.

Ellis, Shelley; Up Close and Personal: A Real-World Audience Awareness Assignment; Mar.: 286–90.

Fallon, Dianne; Team Research Projects (What Works for Me); Dec.: 197–98.

"Fare from the Madding Crowd": The Lighter Side of Error in Student Writing; Gary Vaughn and Barbara Wenner; Mar.: 291–98.

Fauske, Chris; Some Other Culture: Maori Literature as a Unifying Force in a Multicultural Classroom; Sept.: 18–24.

Feminism and Composition Studies: In Other Words ed. by Susan C. Jarratt and Lynn Worsham; rev. by Merry G. Perry; Mar.: 321–22.

Frischkorn, Craig; Style in Advanced Composition: Active Students and Passive Voice; May: 415–18.

From the Writing Process to the Responding Sequence: Incorporating Self-Assessment and Reflection in the Classroom; Peggy O'Neill; Sept.: 61–70.

Fujii, Marcia; Clue to Better Communication (What Works for Me); Mar.: 318.

Fujii, Marcia; The Anonymous Applicant: Peer Evaluation without Pressure (What Works for Me); Sept.: 84.

Gender and the On-Line Classroom; Patrick Sullivan; May: 361–71.

Gillette, Mary Ann, and Carol Videon; Seeking Quality on the Internet: A Case Study of Composition Students' Works Cited; Dec.: 189–94.

Grammar Problems? Try a Little R&R (What Works for Me); Jeannine W. Morgan; Sept.: 84–85.

Grocery List and Audience Analysis, A (What Works for Me); Lawrence Barkley; May: 431–32.

Gypsy Academics and Mother-Teachers: Gender, Contingent Labor, and Writing Instruction by Eileen E. Schell; rev. by Colleen Connolly; Dec.: 201–02.

Have Students Define and Describe Good Writing (What Works for Me); Dave Waddell; May: 433.

Hoheisel, Peter; Using the Mock Quiz for Assessment (What Works for Me); Sept.: 82–83.

Houston, Linda; Let the Students Determine Course Content (What Works for Me); Mar.: 316.

How Students Discover Study Times and Places in a Writing Activity (What Works for Me); Charles Kovach; Mar.: 317.

Hughes, Deidre M.; Writing Outside the Box: Critical Action and the Composition Classroom; Dec.: 132–43.

I Teach (poem); Jeanne Altstatt; May: 359–60.

Introduction (What Works for Me); Judy A. Pearce; Dec.: 196.

Irvin, L. Lennie; The Shared Discourse of the Networked Computer Classroom; May: 372–79.

Isaksen, Judy L.; A Local Look at the World Wide Web (What Works for Me); Dec.: 196–97.

Isaksen, Judy L.; rev. of Turns of Thought: Teaching Composition as Reflexive Inquiry by Donna Qualley; Dec.: 199–201.

Kasper, Loretta F.; Print, Film, and Hypertexts: A Multimedia Model for Discipline-Based ESL Instruction; May: 406–14.

Keeping Language Journals in English Composition; Jane Arnold; Sept.: 71–74.

Keil, Marjorie; Putting Writing to Work; Dec.: 168–73.

Klausman, Jeffrey; Computer-Assisted Commenting (What Works for Me); Sept.: 80–81.

Klopfenstein, Glenn D.; Using the Off-Campus Interview; Dec.: 178–81.

Kovach, Charles; How Students Discover Study Times and Places in a Writing Activity (What Works for Me); Mar.: 317.

Laird, Ellen; "Daisies"; Dec.: 121–24.

Learning to Analyze Literature through Teaching (What Works for Me); Nancy Lawson Remler; May: 432.

LeJeune, Susan G.; Writing for the Ignorant Reader; Dec.: 163–67.

Let the Students Determine Course Content (What Works for Me); Linda Houston; Mar.: 316.

Local Look at the World Wide Web, A (What Works for Me); Judy L. Isaksen; Dec.: 196–97.

Making the Student, Making the Grade: Fostering Dialogue through Accountability; Darin Payne; Dec.: 154–62.

McComiskey, Bruce; Postmodern Cultural Studies and the Politics of Writing Instruction; Dec.: 144–53.

McDonald, Jean; To Kindle a Flame: Teaching Vocabulary in College Composition Courses; Sept.: 75–78.

Mills, Keturah N.; Punctuation and Sentence Variety (What Works for Me); May: 433–34.

Mina P. Shaughnessy: Her Life and Work by Jane Maher; rev. by Judith A. (Jay) Wootten; Sept.: 86–87.

Mitigating Barriers to Navajo Students' Success in English Courses; Kay Thurston; Sept.: 29–38.

Mohr, Ellen; The Writing Center: An Opportunity in Democracy; May: 419–26.

Morgan, Jeannine W.; Grammar Problems? Try a Little R&R (What Works for Me); Sept.: 84–85.

Nelson, Alexis; Views from the Underside: Proficiency Portfolios in First-Year Composition; Mar.: 243–53.

Need to Understand ESL Students' Native Language Writing Experiences, The; Yu Ren Dong; Mar.: 277–85.

Nern, Michael G.; Readers Write; Sept.: 8–9.

New Voices: Teaching and Responding to the Literature of AIDS; Sandra McGill Barnhouse; Sept.: 12–17.

"Once Upon a Time": Creating Tales in the Computer Classroom (What Works for Me); Becky Cohen Samberg; Mar.: 317.

O'Neill, Peggy; From the Writing Process to the Responding Sequence: Incorporating Self-Assessment and Reflection in the Classroom; Sept.: 61–70.

O'Neill, Peggy; rev. of Reflection in the Writing Classroom by Kathleen Blake Yancey; Dec.: 202–04.

Oehler, Paul; A Selected Discography of American Literature Set to Music—Part II; Sept.: 25–28.

Palimpsest: The Book of Samuel (poem); Jeff Sommers; Dec.: 119–20.

Payne, Darin; Making the Student, Making the Grade: Fostering Dialogue through Accountability; Dec.: 154–62.

Pearce, Judy A.; Introduction (What Works for Me); Dec.: 196.

Performance of Self in Student Writing, The by Thomas Newkirk; rev. by Candace Spigelman; Mar.: 323–24.

Perry, Merry G.; rev. of Feminism and Composition Studies: In Other Words ed. by Susan C. Jarratt and Lynn Worsham; Mar.: 321–22.

Personalizing the Grading Scale for Beginning Writers; Ron Carter and Thomas A. Rockson, Jr.; Dec.: 125–31.

Postmodern Cultural Studies and the Politics of Writing Instruction; Bruce McComiskey; Dec.: 144–53.

Print, Film, and Hypertexts: A Multimedia Model for Discipline-Based ESL Instruction; Loretta F. Kasper; May: 406–14.

Publishing Group Projects: Decentering the Writing Classroom; Kevin Alexander Boon; Mar.: 262–68.

Publishing in Rhetoric and Composition ed. by Gary A. Olson and Todd W. Taylor; rev. by Cynthia Simpson; Sept.: 90–92.

Punctuation and Sentence Variety (What Works for Me); Keturah N. Mills; May: 433–34.

Putting Writing to Work; Marjorie Keil; Dec.: 168–73.

Ransdell, D. R.; Directive Versus Facilitative Commentary; Mar.: 269–76.

Raymond, Richard C.; Building Learning Communities on Nonresidential Campuses; May: 393–405.

Reflection in the Writing Classroom by Kathleen Blake Yancey; rev. by Peggy O'Neill; Dec.: 202–04.

Remler, Nancy Lawson; Learning to Analyze Literature through Teaching (What Works for Me); May: 432.

"Rest of the Story, The" (What Works for Me); Nancy Christensen; Dec.: 198.

Résumé Writing and the Web (What Works for Me); Tim Waggoner; Dec.: 197.

Revision Levels and Categories for Revision (What Works for Me); Patrick Tompkins; Sept.: 83.

Reynolds, Jean; Deconstruction in the Composition Classroom; Mar.: 254–61.

Robinson, William S.; Towards a Theory of Error; Sept.: 50–60.

Rockson, Thomas A., and Ron Carter; Personalizing the Grading Scale for Beginning Writers; Dec.: 125–31.

Ruzich, Constance M.; White Students' Resistance to Multicultural Literature: Breaking the Sullen Silence; Mar.: 299–304.

Ryan, Barrie, and Tom Speer; Collaborative Teaching in the De-Centered Classroom; Sept.: 39–49.

Samberg, Becky Cohen; "Once Upon a Time": Creating Tales in the Computer Classroom (What Works for Me); Mar.: 317.

Schevera, Nicholas; Using the Talk Show to "Talk Back" to O'Connor's "Good Country People"; Dec.: 174–77.

Seeking Quality on the Internet: A Case Study of Composition Students' Works Cited; Mary Ann Gillette and Carol Videon; Dec.: 189–94.

Selected Discography of American Literature Set to Music—Part II, A; Paul Oehler; Sept.: 25–28.

Shared Discourse of the Networked Computer Classroom, The; L. Lennie Irvin; May: 372–79.

Simpson, Cynthia; rev. of Academic Advancement in Composition Studies: Scholarship, Publication, Promotion, Tenure ed. by Richard C. Gebhardt and Barbara Genelle Smith Gebhardt; Sept.: 90–92.

Simpson, Cynthia; rev. of Publishing in Rhetoric and Composition ed. by Gary A. Olson and Todd W. Taylor; Sept.: 90–92.

Simpson, Cynthia; rev. of Writing for Academic Publication by Frank Parker and Kathryn Riley, Sept.: 90–92.

Smith, John A.; Contracting English Composition: It Only Sounds Like an Illness; May: 427–30.

Some Other Culture: Maori Literature as a Unifying Force in a Multicultural Classroom; Chris Fauske; Sept.: 18–24.

Sommers, Jeff; Palimpsest: The Book of Samuel (poem); Dec.: 119–20.

Speer, Tom, and Barrie Ryan; Collaborative Teaching in the De-Centered Classroom; Sept.: 39–49.

Spigelman, Candace; rev. of Performance of Self in Student Writing, The by Thomas Newkirk; Mar.: 323–24.

Spoelman, Linda Karsten, and Katherine M. Thomas; Caribbean Women's Voices Speak to Two-Year College Students; May: 388–92.

Sprinkle, Russ; Comp-ardy (What Works for Me); Sept.: 79–80.

St. Louis-Rines, Tammy; A for Effort? (What Concerns Me); Sept.: 10–11.

Stewart, Margaret E.; Writing Exchanges (What Works for Me); Sept.: 85.

Style in Advanced Composition: Active Students and Passive Voice; Craig Frischkorn; May: 415–18.

Sullivan, Patrick; Gender and the On-Line Classroom; May: 361–71.

Summer, Lynn; rev. of Your Choice: A Basic Writing Guide with Readings by Kate Mangelsdorf and Evelyn Posey; Sept.: 87–89.

Teaching Structure (What Works for Me); Greg Beatty; Mar.: 315–16.

Team Research Projects (What Works for Me); Dianne Fallon; Dec.: 197–98.

Thomas, Katherine M., and Linda Karsten Spoelman; Caribbean Women's Voices Speak to Two-Year College Students; May: 388–92.

Thurston, Kay; Mitigating Barriers to Navajo Students' Success in English Courses; Sept.: 29–38.

Time to Know Them: A Longitudinal Study of Writing and Learning at the College Level by Marilyn S. Sternglass; rev. by Judith Angona; Mar.: 319–21.

To Kindle a Flame: Teaching Vocabulary in College Composition Courses; Jean McDonald; Sept.: 75–78.

Tompkins, Patrick; Revision Levels and Categories for Revision (What Works for Me); Sept.: 83.

Towards a Theory of Error; William S. Robinson; Sept.: 50–60.

Turns of Thought: Teaching Composition as Reflexive Inquiry by Donna Qualley; rev. by Judy L. Isaksen; Dec.: 199–201.

Twists, Turns, and Returns: Returning Adult Students; Libby Bay; Mar.: 305–12.

Up Close and Personal: A Real-World Audience Awareness Assignment; Shelley Ellis; Mar.: 286–90.

Using "I Have a Dream" to Teach Strong Repetition (What Works for Me); Dave Waddell; Mar.: 314–15.

Using the Mock Quiz for Assessment (What Works for Me); Peter Hoheisel; Sept.: 82–83.

Using the Off-Campus Interview; Glenn D. Klopfenstein; Dec.: 178–81.

Using the Talk Show to "Talk Back" to O'Connor's "Good Country People"; Nicholas Schevera; Dec.: 174–77.

Vaughn, Gary; and Barbara Wenner; "Fare from the Madding Crowd": The Lighter Side of Error in Student Writing; Mar.: 291–98.

Videon, Carol, and Mary Ann Gillette; Seeking Quality on the Internet: A Case Study of Composition Students' Works Cited; Dec.: 189–94.

Views from the Underside: Proficiency Portfolios in First-Year Composition; Alexis Nelson; Mar.: 243–53.

Waddell, Dave; Have Students Define and Describe Good Writing (What Works for Me); May: 433.

Waddell, Dave; Using "I Have a Dream" to Teach Strong Repetition (What Works for Me); Mar.: 314–15.

Waggoner, Tim; Résumé Writing and the Web (What Works for Me); Dec.: 198.

Wenner, Barbara, and Gary Vaughn; "Fare from the Madding Crowd": The Lighter Side of Error in Student Writing; Mar.: 291–98.

While Reading TETYC over Morning Coffee (poem); Laurie A. Dashnau; Mar.: 242.

White Students' Resistance to Multicultural Literature: Breaking the Sullen Silence; Constance M. Ruzich; Mar.: 299–304.

Wootten, Judith A. (Jay); rev. of Mina P. Shaughnessy: Her Life and Work by Jane Maher; Sept.: 86–87.

Writing Center: An Opportunity in Democracy, The; Ellen Mohr; May: 419–26.

Writing Exchanges (What Works for Me); Margaret E. Stewart; Sept.: 85.

Writing for Academic Publication by Frank Parker and Kathryn Riley; rev. by Cynthia Simpson; Sept.: 90–92.

Writing for the Ignorant Reader; Susan G. LeJeune; Dec.: 163–67.

Writing into Silence: Losing Voice with Writing Assessment Technology; Joanne Drechsel; May: 380–87.

Writing Outside the Box: Critical Action and the Composition Classroom; Deidre M. Hughes; Dec.: 132–43.

Yesterday's News in the Composition Class (What Works for Me); Shane Borrowman; Sept.: 81–82.

Your Choice: A Basic Writing Guide with Readings by Kate Mangelsdorf and Evelyn Posey; rev. by Lynn Summer; Sept.: 87–89.